Having fun after school

Magnolia day care center

Enjoying staying after school

What started off last year as a means of utilizing idle space at Magnolia School in Upland has turned into a growing day care program which now has a lengthy waiting list.

Upland School District officials were faced with two problems at the elementary school — a smaller than usual number of students which was causing rooms to go unused and a student need for day care.

The result was the Extended Day Care Center at Magnolia School, created and operating under the auspices of the Upland School District.

The district was faced with the loss of state education funds and certificated personnel at the school if the empty rooms were not used. The center was the answer, particularly since projections for future growth at Magnolia show little changes in population.

The center opened last year with nine students. Next year the program expects to enroll 100 children, according to Principal Roberta Hennigan.

Vacant or unused rooms on the Magnolia campus are utilized and district teaching personnel employed. The program now involves Magnolia students, kindergarten through sixth grade, but it is open to all Upland School District students.

The program, the only one operating in the district, has proved so successful that district officials want to duplicate it elsewhere.

Superintendent George Renworth said he would like to extend the program to other schools but the remaining elementaries simply don't have room.

Parents are charged a fee, depending upon the amount of time the child is at the center. Students using the facility the entire day are charged $125 per month. A 20 percent fee reduction is available for families having more than one child in the program. The fee includes an afternoon snack.

The cost of the program from 6:30 a.m. to 8 a.m. is $40 per month and from 11:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. is $90 per month.

Parents are not charged for the time their children are in school. The average child is in the center from 11:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., after being dismissed from school.

"An attractive feature of the program is that the student doesn't have to leave the campus from the minute he arrives in the morning until his parents come for him in the evening," Mrs. Hennigan said. "Security is important and enforced. Parents must sign their children in and out of the center. Children are escorted from one part of the school to another."

Parent Elaine Clark said she and her daughter, Nicole, are very happy with the center and its programs.

"The center offers fairly diverse activities and the people involved do an excellent job. I think the prices are very reasonable," Mrs. Clark said.

Virginia Manley, another parent, agreed. Her daughter, Petra, was enrolled in private school but was transferred to Magnolia because it is the only Upland School District school with day care.

The center is open five days a week from 6:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. It remains open throughout the year, except for holidays when the district office is closed.

It is designed to provide structured and unstructured activities including outdoor play, tutoring, homework study hall and educational games.

"For parents who don't work, I doubt if they could provide as much scheduled activities for the children," Mrs. Hennigan said.

"The program is popular because the school has a number of single parents and others who need a place to keep their children. Children in the program don't watch television. They have activities every day."

Parents also like the idea of not having to leave the school district and being able to utilize the public school system for day care, she said.

Although fees are charged, the program was not designed to make a profit. Next year prices will be increased but the amount has not been set yet, she said.

Program Coordinator Rebecca Daniel said the center operates well within the school atmosphere.

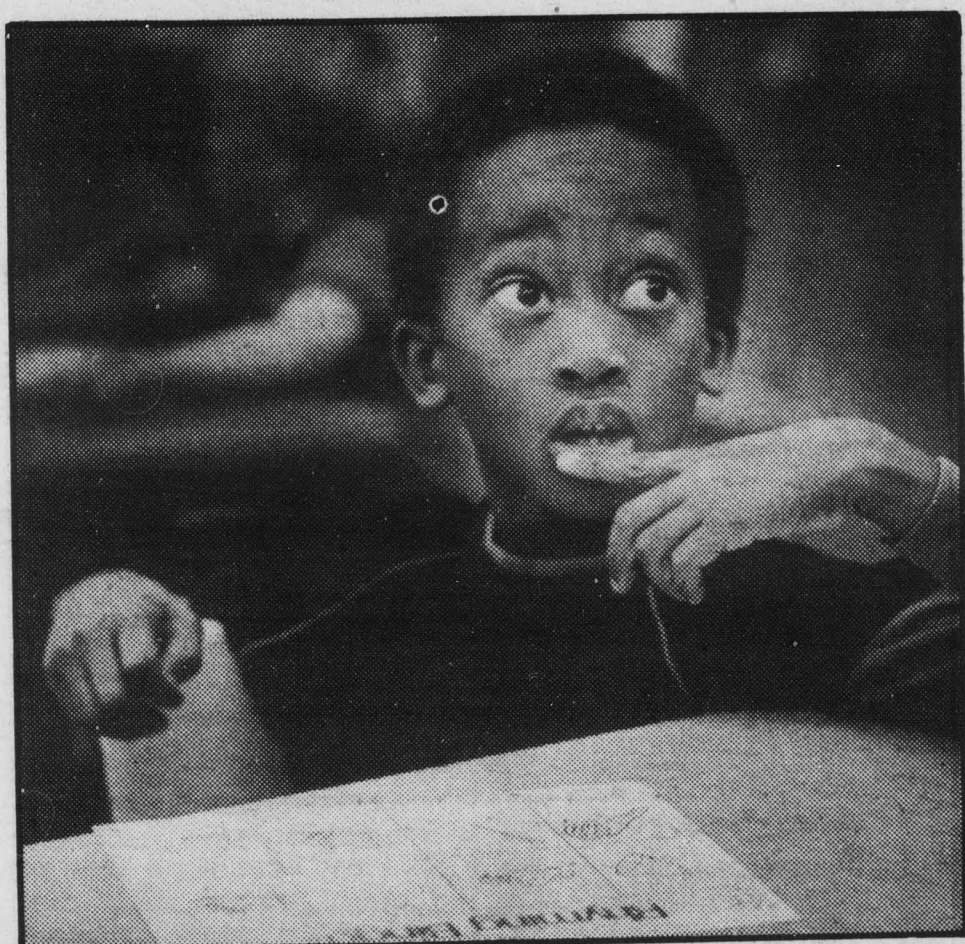

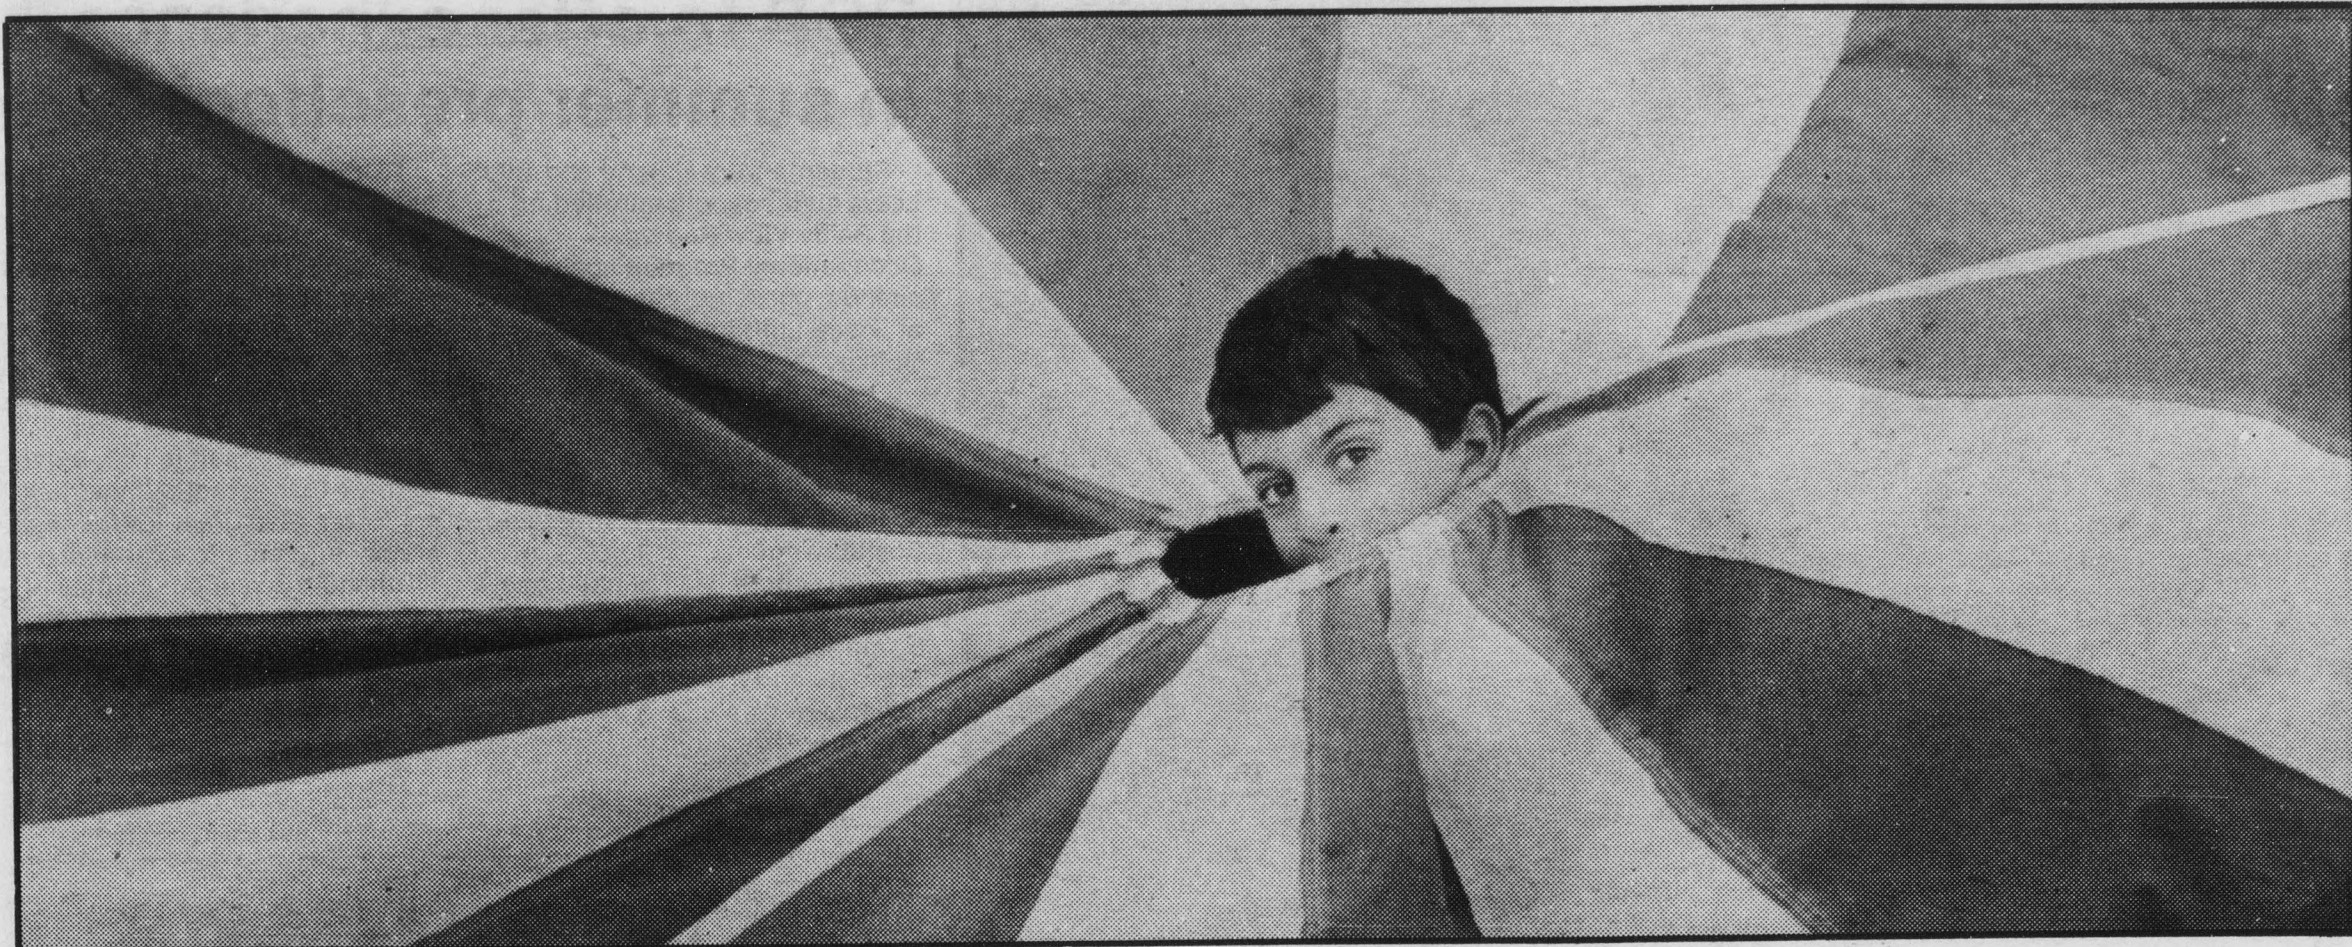

"Activities here are flexible. I believe strongly in being flexible, especially with kids," Daniel said.

The day care center is not designed to replicate school activities because the children could not handle such a rigorous and long day, she said.

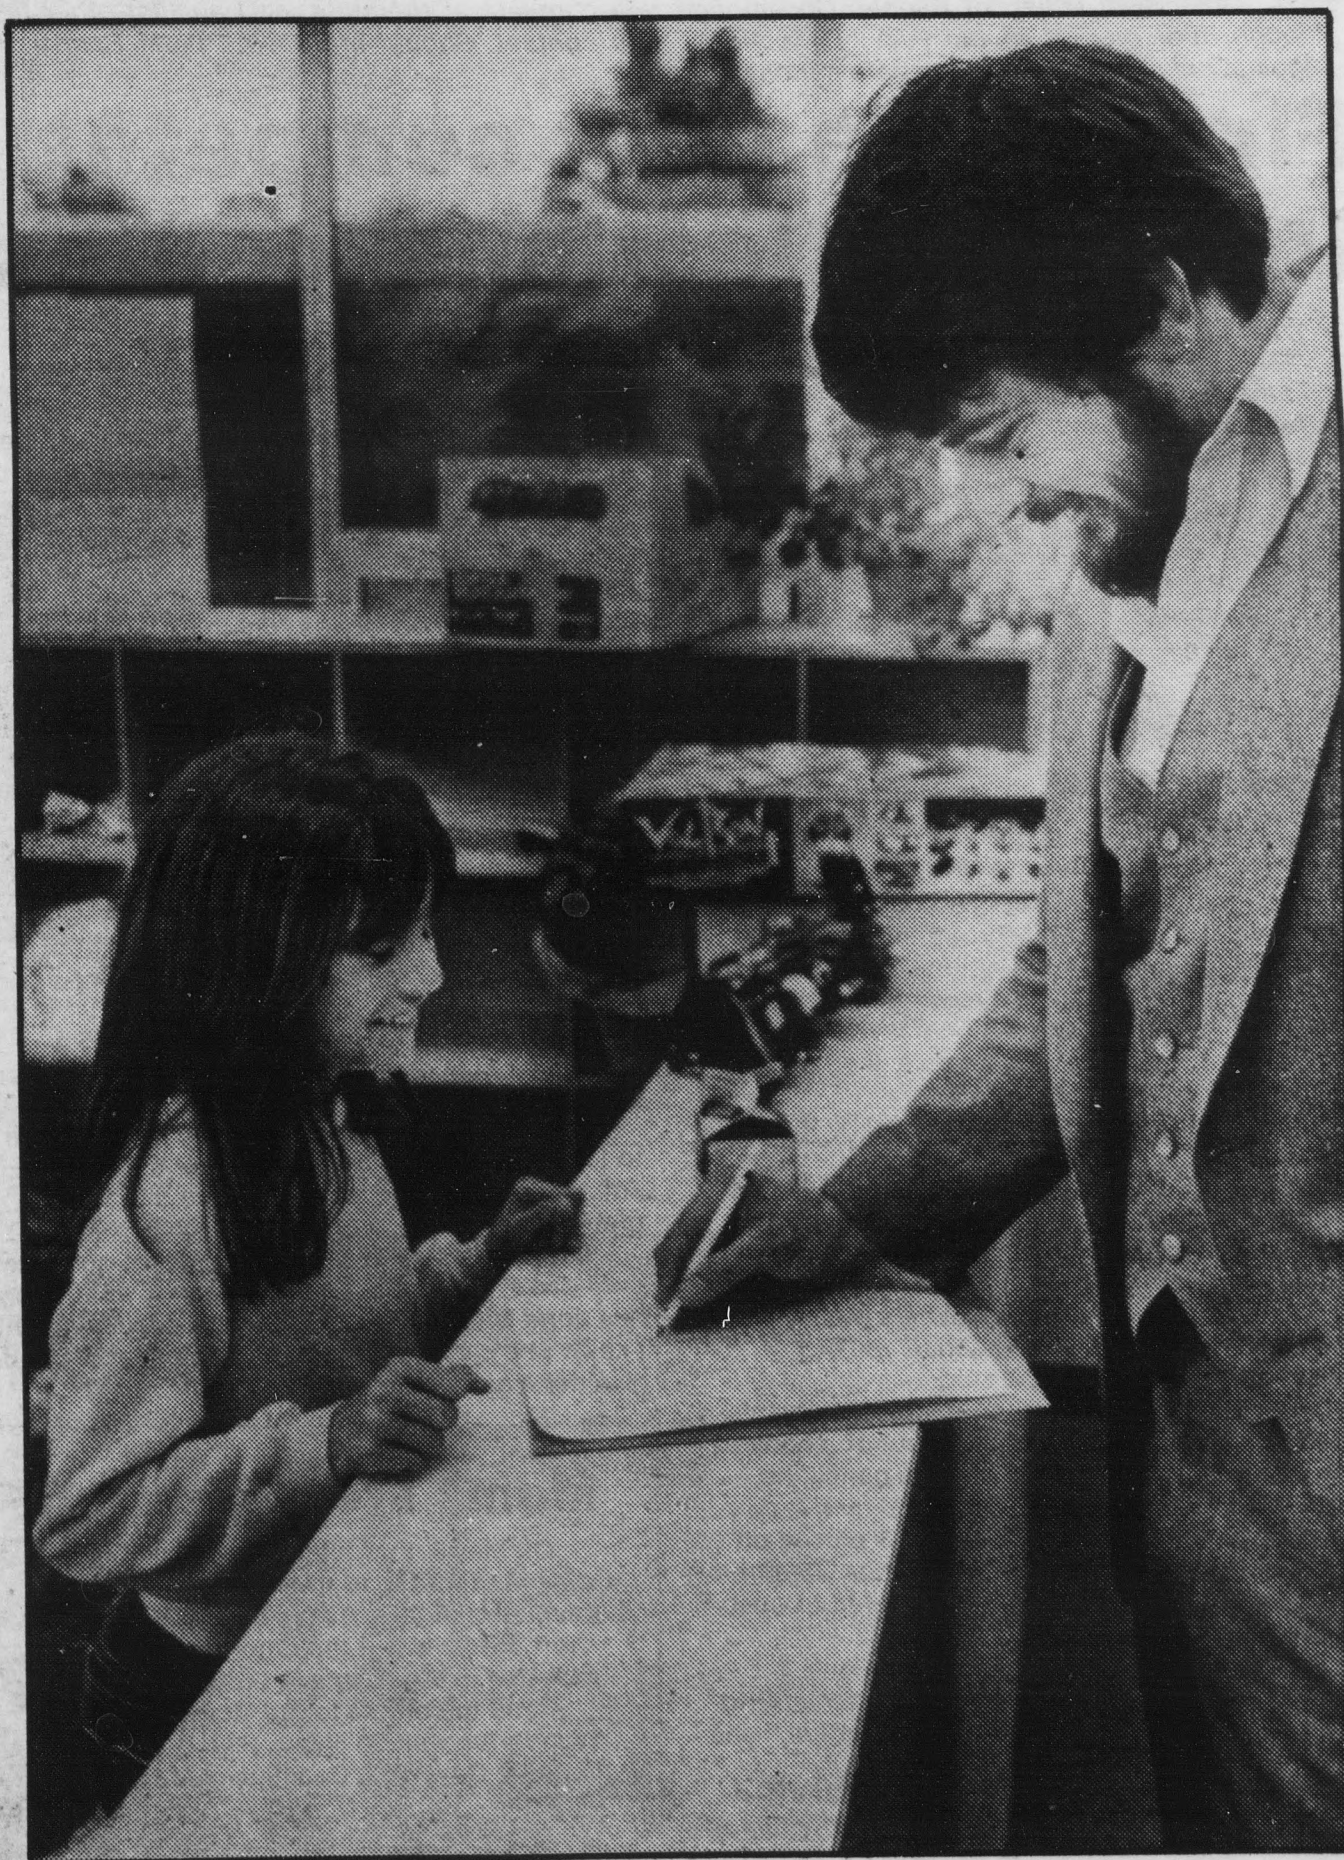

Most of the center's inquiries from parents involve kindergartners and first graders. "The young ones need activities but most anything will keep them occupied. The older children need interesting activities to keep them alert," she said.

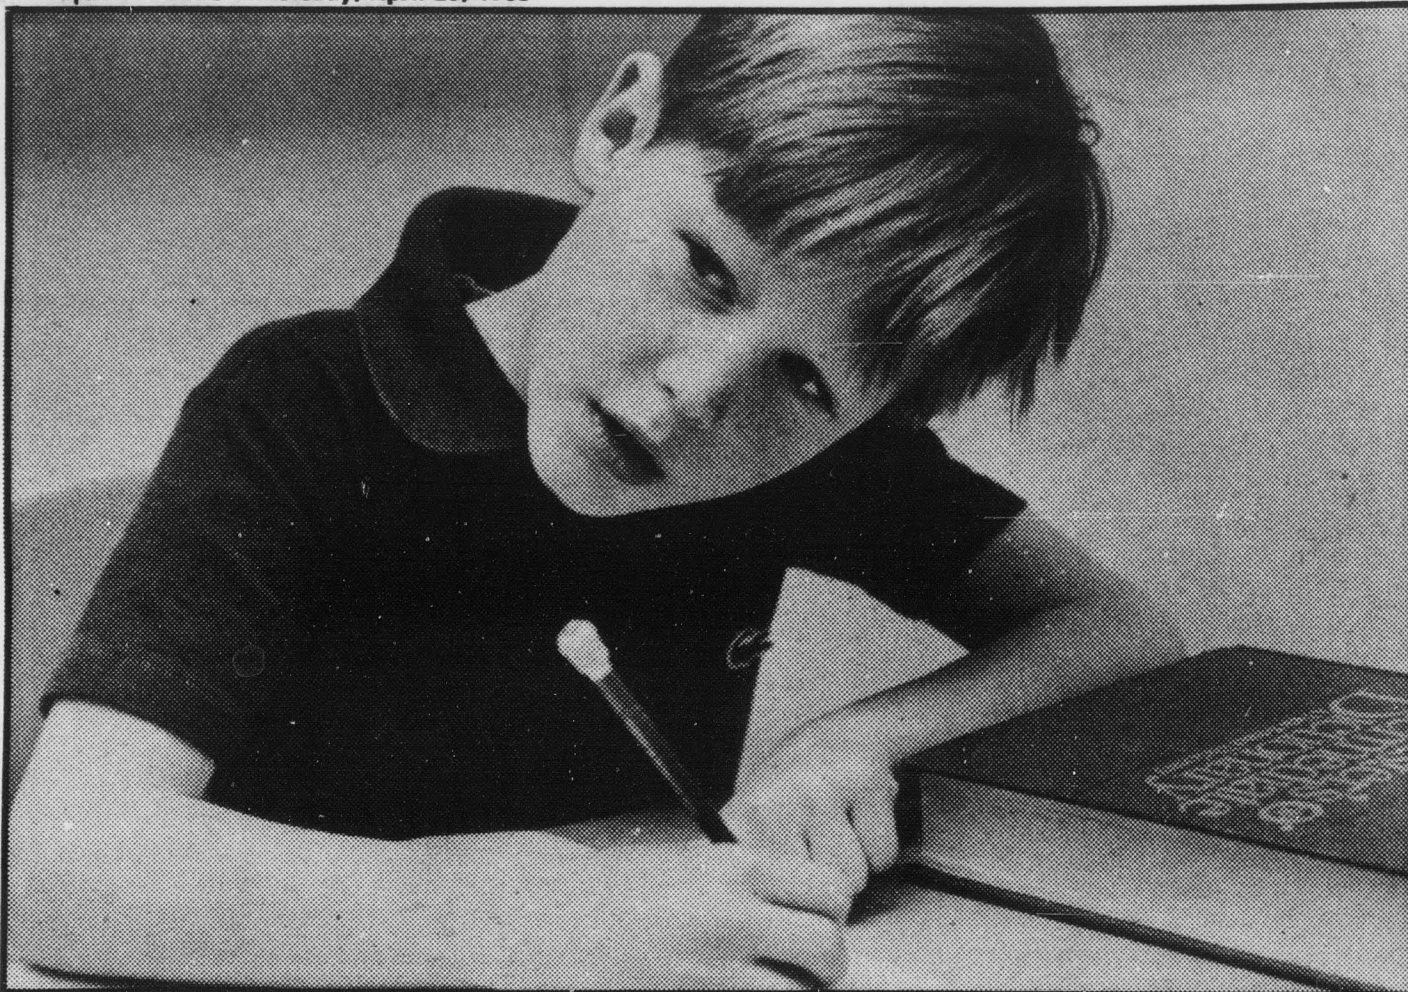

Keeping the children's interests is the big challenge, she said.

Activities at the Magnolia extended day care center aren't all indoors. The children and instructor Tracy Ruis enjoy a modified game of tag using a large parachute (left). Ramon Hernandez (top right) gets caught during a friendly game of tag in the afternoon. Mike Burr (middle right) thinks to himself which words rhyme with what during a game of rhyming bingo. All parents or guardians must sign their children in and out of the day care center. Larry Brown signs his daughter, Heather, out at day's end (bottom right). On the cover: Beverly Wierschem, instructor, shows kindergarteners how to make paper flowers in their art class.

First grader Ryan Miller, of Rancho Cucamonga, will compete at the state level against other first through third graders in the PTA "Reflections" arts contest. Should his poem "What Sparks My Imagination" win, Ryan will compete nationally.

First-grade poet competes in PTA 'Reflections' contest

What Sparks My Imagination

In the night I dream nice dreams,
Tender dreams.
Soft dreams.
But in the morning my dreams are all gone.

Dreams make me think of new things.
Nice things.
Tender things.
Soft things.

— By Ryan Miller
Los Amigos School
Rancho Cucamonga

By Terri Tirella

First-grader Ryan Miller is competing at the state level with other first-through third-graders in the California PTA "Reflections" arts contest.

His poetic efforts have already garnered him awards at the school and regional levels of PTA. If he wins at state level, his poem will go on to the national competition.

"It's a national contest sponsored by the PTA to encourage excellence in the arts of literature, music and other art mediums," said Pam Wright, Ryan's first-grade teacher. Wright teaches a first- and second-grade combination class at Los Amigos School.

"Ryan's a really unusual kid; he's real worldly and has a sense of common sense and can verbalize it really well," she said.

Wright said she had other samples of Ryan's work. "You'd think he'd copied it out of a book ... but it seems to flow right out of his pencil; he even runs his words together."

She said she thinks the emphasis placed on developing writing skills in Cucamonga District schools helped Ryan and other students to open additional thinking channels.

"Every day they write in more than one subject and their journals. We have story writing and many students write during free choice," she said.

Wright said she prepared her class for their competition writing assignments by talking about what imagination is. "They are kind of competitive and were excited about participating."

After he won the county level of competition, 7-year-old Ryan decided to rehearse his role as a noted author. "I wore a three-piece suit, I'm not sure for how many days in a row, to practice being famous," he said.

Wright said the first-grader also brought one of his mother's handbags, which he used as a briefcase.

"I kept signed-up contracts for an escort, chauffeur and for something else I can't remember," he said. He put name tags on every member of his entourage, but they later ripped up their contracts.

Ryan's mother, Kay Miller Scarbrough, said she was overwhelmed to find her first-grader had won the countywide contest. "I didn't know he had finished it until he brought a permission slip" allowing Ryan to enter the contest, she said.

Scarbrough said Ryan has always been a sensitive child, especially during her divorce from his father.

She said from the time Ryan was old enough to talk he wanted to be read to. "He's always enjoyed reading and is more inclined that way then in math," Scarbrough said.

"I'd kind of like to take credit for his success but I can't," she said. "A great deal of what Ryan has done is attributed to his teacher, Mrs. Wright. I know she's a busy person and somebody should give her a pat on the back."

Moms are wonderful

On May 9, the Upland News will publish a special tribute to mothers. Sons and daughters of all ages are invited to submit a short article about their mothers to be included in the tribute.

Send the article to the Moms are Wonderful, Upland News, P.O. Box 4000, Ontario, CA 91761. Deadline is May 1.

ROP to offer experience in summer preschool care

Students from Upland and Alta Loma high schools enrolled in the Baldy View Regional Occupational Program again will spend a portion of the summer at Grace Lutheran preschool in Upland.

The program, which offers job training, will be operating this summer from July 1 to August 8 from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the school located at 21st Street and Euclid Avenue.

"The school is a licensed one for 24 children per day and will be staffed by two credentialed teachers and a maximum of six ROP aides," said Lisa Vadnais, school coordinator.

ROP, in this case, offers high school students an opportunity to work in area child care programs. They must complete a four-week, three-hour-per-day schedule.

"I feel this is a marvelous opportunity for the preschoolers to receive as much personal attention as possible with a one-to-three teacher ratio," Vadnais said. "It's also great for the high school students to experience firsthand the responsibilities of working in a preschool before going on to college."

Anyone interested in the program may call 989-7826 or 982-2954.

A SUCCESS — Sierra Vista School students wrote their own version of "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp" and performed it before a packed audience during their two-night run. Fifth graders decided to add a bit of humor and fun to the age-old tale of genies, magic lamps and Arabian nights. Teacher Dina Olsen directed the play. Zach Gross, genie of the lamp, (left); Matt Collett, Aladdin; and Robert Shelton, genie of the ring, were among the cast members.

Schools accepting registration

Cucamonga School District will register kindergarten pupils the week of May 13-17 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Guasti Elementary School.

Parents may obtain registration packets at the school and return them by May 17. Parents are required to bring the child's birth certificate and immunization records at the time of registration. A current physical examination is also required upon entrance to school.

Children born on or before Dec. 2, 1980, will be eligible to attend kindergarten during the 1985-86 school year.

Children born on or before Dec. 2, 1981, may be enrolled for the State Preschool Program conducted at Cucamonga Elementary School. This program is primarily for students from low-income families. A small number of children from higher-income families may be enrolled if space is available. Registration materials may be obtained from the district office and must be returned by July 15.

Celebration marks Mexican resistance to the French

By CARLOS E. DURON
Librarian
Chaffey High School

Cinco de Mayo is not Mexican Independence Day. The celebration is in remembrance of Mexico's stand in preventing French troops from entering the city of Puebla in 1862.

Mexico had gained independence from Spain more than 40 years earlier, on Sept. 16, 1810. On that May 5 day, Mexico showed her willingness to fight to keep the young nation free from the colonial rule of the powerful French under Emperor Napoleon III, nephew of Napoleon Bonaparte.

Years of civil war between conservative and reformist factions had just ended in Mexico, placing the liberal President Benito Juarez, a Zapotec Indian, in power as head of state. The conflict left the country bankrupt, forcing Juarez to declare a two-year moratorium on repayment of loans to England, Spain and France. Ships of these nations landed at the port of Veracruz late in 1861, blockaded the harbour and took over the collection of revenues (at that time a universal practice).

England and Spain agreed to await repayment in due course, but the French refused. Napoleon III planned to use the Mexican debt as an excuse for armed invasion and occupation of the country, and he attempted to establish a government there.

On May 5, 1862, French troops met resistance from a small ragged section of the Mexican Army at a city called Puebla, 136 miles south of Mexico City. Despite superior French weapons and the expertise of French officers, Mexican troops commanded by General Ignacio Zaragoza halted the invader's advance. The French were forced to retreat.

Within a year the French, with the aid of conservative collaborators, did succeed in getting control of the country. However, during that year, Juaristas organized a resistance movement and overthrew the French, who retired from the country in disarray.

Historian Justo Sierra, in his text, "The Political Evolution of the Mexican People," cited ample reasons why all Americans, not just those of Mexican ancestry, should celebrate Cinco de Mayo.

"At the moment when Zaragoza was fighting the Battle of Puebla," wrote Sierra, "Robert E. Lee was winning battles for the south."

Had the Mexicans not won that day, France could have lent full support to the Confederate Army. With the help of England virtually assured by the politics of the Parliament, the Union blockade of Southern ports could have failed, leading to a probable Confederate victory and changing the course of history in America. The Mexican victory at Puebla resulted in no intervention by France in the American Civil War. Thus the struggle of one people to maintain independence had a beneficial effect on the fight of another people to maintain their republic.

Participants prepare to walk for charity

Hundreds of West Valley residents will don their walking shoes to participate in WalkAmerica 1985.

At the same time these 1,500 walkers set off on their 32-kilometer course, 1.5 million other Americans will follow suit in 1,100 communities throughout the country. WalkAmerica is the nation's oldest and largest walking event. More than 15 million people will sponsor the walkers, with thousands of others adding behind-the-scenes support.

In the Inland Counties area, 13 communities are hosting WalkAmerica. Registration for the walk begins at 7 a.m. and the walkers will step off from Chaffey High School, at 1245 Euclid Ave., Ontario, at 8 a.m.

The 1985 theme is "Pioneers in the Fight Against Birth Defects." Checkpoints along the route will offer light refreshments and encouragement to walkers. Each checkpoint will be decorated in a "Pioneer Spirit" motif to carry out the theme. Checkpoints will compete for the title of "best checkpoint."

The routes are planned for safety, and have the approval of police departments of each community through which the walk passes. First aid, communication teams and "tired tootsie trolleys" to pick up walkers who have reached their limit will all be provided.

The West End Steering Committee has set a 1985 goal of $150,000. This is an increase of about 30 percent over last year's walk total. Corporate sponsorships have made premiums available to walkers who turn in $35 or more in pledges by June 1. In the West End, walkers will be treated to free hotdogs, soft drinks, and entertainment as they return to the start-finish location.

For more information, call 889-0803 or 824-1203. Sponsor sheets may be obtained from local K-mart stores or 7-Eleven stores.

Chaffey High School students (in black leotards) give their Upland Junior High School counterparts some helpful exercise hints.

Young dancers strut their stuff

By Suzanne Sproul

Practice can't hurt but learning through observation may be the best teacher, dancers discovered last week at Upland Junior High School.

Girls in the Chaffey High School performing arts class became teachers for a 90-minute workshop at the junior high school.

The 2-year-old program has given those enrolled in Upland Junior High's beginning modern dance class an opportunity to see what may be in store for them when they go to high school.

Many of those who became one-day teachers once were enrolled in the junior high class.

Upland Junior High School students go on to Chaffey, Upland or Montclair high schools. The performing arts class is offered to students as an elective course.

"This type of activity is very stimulating because the junior high school girls can see the work being done on the high school level in performing arts," said Becky Miller, Upland junior high teacher.

Marian Fulton, Chaffey performing arts teacher, first instructed all of the 130 dancers in four different types of warm-up exercises during the workshop. Then the work began. Upland girls first showed their

Brekky's patrons leave their smoke outside the door

You are at your favorite restaurant and the waitress has just brought your preferred dish. A warm, flavorful aroma from the plate fills your nose. Your mouth waters in anticipatory delight. Just as the fork nears your taste buds a waft of cigarette smoke from an adjacent table finds your nose, propelling a wave of nausea over your stomach. A pungent flavor overwhelms your mouth where a bite of your favorite meal lies unappreciated.

By Karen Pyke

"In any restaurant your food is only going to be as good as the air you're breathing," said restaurateur Bob Hermes. That is why Hermes does not permit smoking in R.H. Brekky's Cafe.

No-smoking signs abound in the small restaurant at the Von's Center on Carnelian and 19th streets in Rancho Cucamonga. One sign reads: "Our smoking lounge is just outside the front door."

The sign began as a joke but when smokers took the sign to heart, Hermes placed a wooden bench and ashtray in front of his cafe.

Accountants warned Hermes before opening his small restaurant in October that he would go out of business if he disallowed smoking. But the restaurant, which specializes in light meals, ribs, chicken, and fresh fish, survives.

"We're doing a lot better than we anticipated," Hermes said. He doesn't believe he is losing business because of his smoking policy. Some 80 percent of the world's population doesn't even smoke, he said. And his restaurant attracts those people who, due to health problems, would otherwise not go out to eat because of smoky environments.

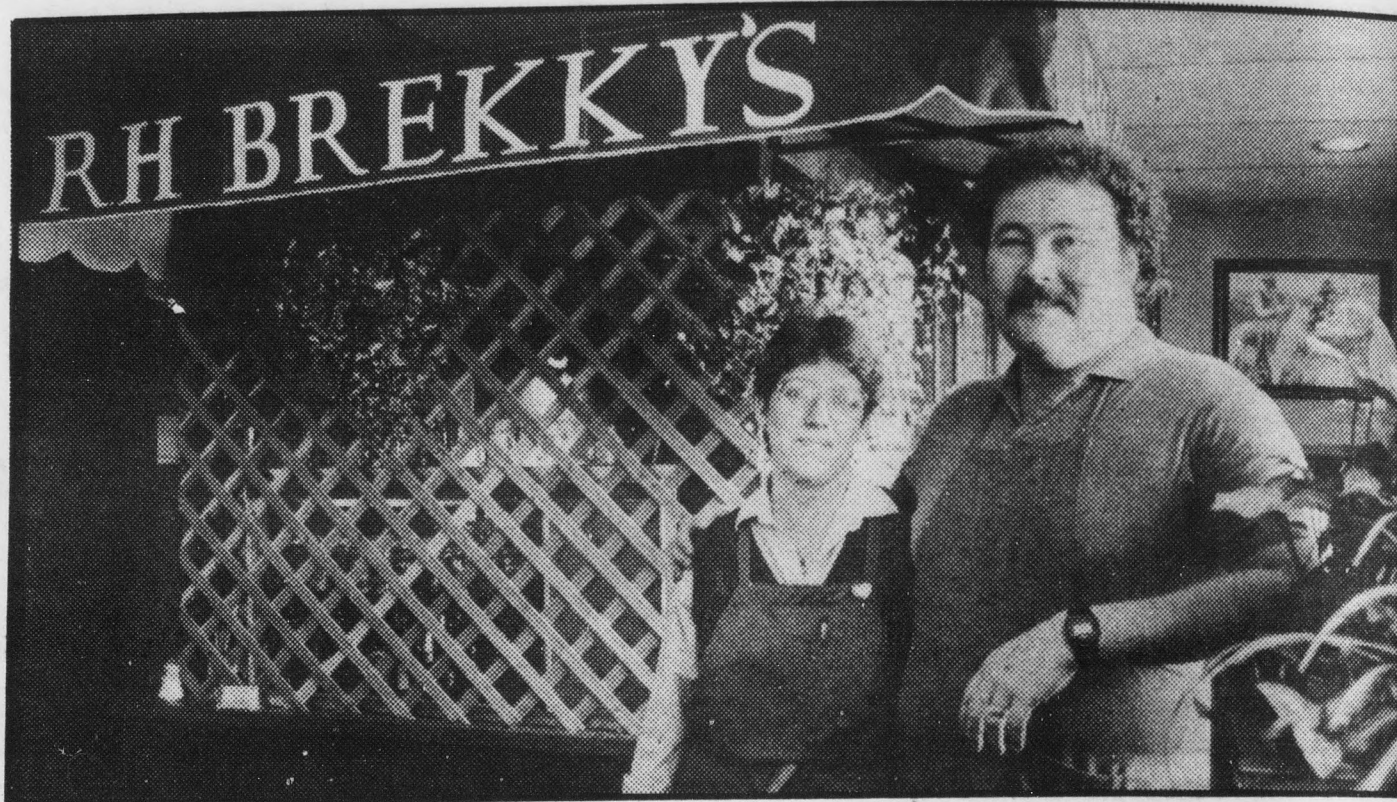

Most smokers who come into the restaurant don't mind the no-smoking policy. They prefer to eat in clean air and can endure the time of a meal without a cigarette, he said.

Hermes said, however, that a good 20 percent of the smoking patrons become infuriated when they learn of the policy. "I was Restaurants owners Linda and Bob Hermes prohibit smoking in their restaurant, R.H. Brekky's Cafe, because cigarette smoke prevents clients from enjoying the taste of food. Bob believes nonsmoking restaurants will be more common in the next decade.

DINING GUIDE

This Week's Featured Restaurant:

CABLE AIRPORT CAFE

The Cable Airport Cafe is located...guess where...Cable Airport. But if you're not familiar with the Upland Airport it is located on 13th Ave., north of Foothill Blvd. and west off of Benson Ave.

When you walk into the Cable Airport Cafe's main dining room you may begin to notice experiencing a nostalgic feeling of the 50's. With the cozy atmosphere and red vinyl booths you could easily vision the Fonzy, white tee shirt and leather jacket sipping a coke and eating a burger and fries.

Off to the side of the main room is a semi-circular, glass enclosed observation dining room. Set above ground it offers a chance to watch the airport's activities while enjoying good cooking. The room is an ideal place to hold a party or small group meeting and can be reserved with advanced notice.

If you wish to be closer to the roar of the plane engines or simply to enjoy the summer weather a covered patio with tables is also available.

Should you chose outside or in why not bring the children to watch the planes take off and land while treating them to an ice cream sundae or root beer float and a slice of freshly baked pie ala mode for yourself.

Roger and Viola Hill of Montclair have owned the Cable Airport Cafe for the past five years. Originally from Wisconsin, the Hills have 17 years of restaurant experience. Says Mr. Hill, "Our main intent is to serve good filling food. The type of home-like cooking everyone enjoys."

The Cable Airport Cafe offers a full menu serving breakfast, lunch and dinner.

For breakfast, among other items, eight omelets are available and are served with toast and jelly and your choice of hash brown potatoes, cottage cheese or sliced tomatoes. The Pre-Flight Special is a delicious offering of hot cakes, sausage or bacon and egg. On the weekends their freshly made gravy and biscuits will definitely satisfy your appetite.

The Cable Airport Cafe serves a wide variety of sandwiches including a deluxe 1/4 lb. hamburger with fries for only $2.55.

Be sure to ask your waitress about the cafe's daily lunch and dinner specials. Light spirits are available.

The Cable Airport Cafe is open Monday and Tuesday, 7:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Wednesday through Friday, 7:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.

'Good Food' and Fre

Steam lifted from the service counter of the Hungarian Eatery, filling the small restaurant with the aroma of peppers, veal, cabbage and beef.

"It looks like my dream came true," said Erzsebeth Vass, as she dipped a ladle into a pan of bubbling goulash, skimmed off the rich top layer of broth and poured it into a customer's bowl of stew.

"My food is different," she said with a proud smile and a heavy slavic dialect. "You can't find it on every corner."

Erzsebeth and her husband Laszlo collected their Hungarian recipes and escaped their Iron Curtain homeland in 1972.

With less than $200, they arrived in New York, and worked and saved until last March they were able to culminate a life-long ambition to purchase their own business.

"We used up all of our savings on restaurant equipment and rent," said Laszlo Vass, rolling his r's in slavic fashion. "We would like to buy decorative things for the restaurant, but we can't afford it now."

To make up for the simple cafeteria decor, Vass said, he and his wife work "very hard" to make sure the restaurant is always clean and the food is "really good."

That means meticulously scrubbing the walls and floors of the "Eatery," and adding touches to meals like extra spoonfuls of premium broth.

"We don't have a lot of money," said Vass. "But we are willing to do hard work and we have courage."

"It took courage" to open their Rancho Cucamonga restaurant, he said. But far less than it took to escape Hungary — an experience, he agrees, makes any business venture seem inconsequential by comparison.

In 1972, Vass, then 28, worked in a tannery in the Hungarian town of Nagykallo, where his grandfather was mayor before the Soviet takeover in 1944.

When the Russians invaded the country, the Hungarians set up a provisional government that suppressed all political officials of the old order.

Vass' grandfather was dismissed from his post, and his family was penalized for the elder Vass' political past.

"We were locked out of everything," Vass said. "We couldn't get a good education or good jobs."

Laszlo and Erzsebeth Vass were frustrated with the puppet dictatorship in their country and when they got passes to take a train into Yugoslavia, they devised an escape.

Because any captured defectors and thier friends who know of their escape faced mandatory two-year jail sentences, the couple informed only their parents that they were leaving.

"I'll never forget," said Vass. "My mother wanted me to have a better life, but she was crying. We thought we would never see each other again."

The young couple took their 4-year-old daughter on the train and rode into Yugoslavia. Their passes barred them from traveling more than 25 miles into the neighboring country.

But they continued riding the train into forbidden territory near the Austrian border.

Only miles before reaching the freedom of the Austrian line, the train stopped. Yugoslavian police officers entered the and checked the Vass' passes.

When they realized the young family was travelling illegally, they arrested them.

"We told them we were lost —that we didn't know where we were going," said Vass.

The police held the family for a day before releasing them and ordering them to return to Hungary.

But instead of getting on a train that night, Vass, his wife and his daughter, walked to the Austrian border.

He's still puzzled over why the Yugoslavian police set his family free.

Walking the rolling hills of Northern Yugoslavia, where grape vines cling to lattices lining the countryside, the Vasses evaded Yugoslavian foot patrols and reached the Austrian threshold.

"When I crossed the border, that picture of my mother crying was in my mind," said Vass.

Soon, Austrian police placed the family in a refugee camp, where immigration officials, fearing that the Vasses could be Soviet spies, interrogated the family.

After four months of screening, the Vasses were free to leave, and a Catholic relief organization flew them to the United States and provided them with food and shelter while the parents looked for work.

"When I left my homeland and knew I couldn't come back, it made me homesick for years," said Vass.

Asked why they came to the United States, Mrs. Vass and a helper at the restaurant Amy Horvath, a spritely Hungarian defector now living in Rancho Cucamonga, said in unison, "The freedom!"

The duo laughed at their harmonious response.

"When you come right to the point, this is the best place to live," said Vass. "We immigrants would sacrifice everything we have for this country."

After tasting her homeland dishes, Mrs. Vass' American friends encouraged her to market her Chicken Paprikash, rolled cabbage, and stuffed green peppers.

"I've always wanted to do it," said Mrs. Vass. "I wanted to share good Hungarian food with the American public."

Today at their Rancho Cucamonga restaurant near the Gemco Center at 9000 Foothill Boulevard, the couple serves up a hearty variety of all their recipes.

"I can tell people like the food," said Horvath. "I always try to collect leftovers for my dog, but there aren't any." □ trying not to offend anyone. Now I'm finding I'm offending smokers," he said.

Now that smokers who cannot go through a meal without smoking "don't bother coming here," Hermes has begun advertising his cafe as the first non-smoking restaurant in Alta Loma.

It is not the first non-smoking restaurant in the city, however. Red Hill Coffee Shop on Foothill Boulevard also prohibits smoking and its business hasn't suffered, according to owner Theresa Eknoian.

"They do a hell of a business. They're packed all the time," Hermes said.

Eknoian's no-smoking policy "has nothing to do with smoking or non-smoking," she said. It has to do with size: Red Hill is too small to handle cigarette smoke, she said.

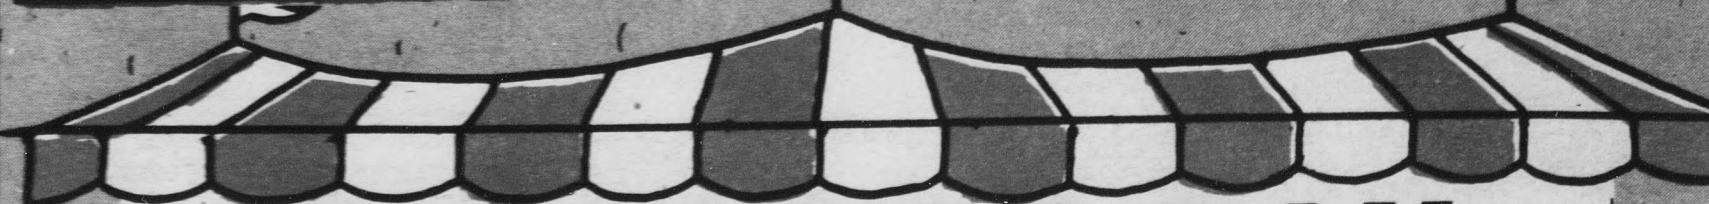

Some smokers will leave when they learn they can't smoke, she said. And then there are other customers who thank her for prohibiting smoking, she added.

Though R.H. Brekky's has only 900 square feet of floor space, Hermes said size didn't prompt his no-smoking decree. He said he is planning a second, larger restaurant, which may have a bar, and that will also be non-smoking.

Because people are more health conscious today, Hermes predicts that there will be many non-smoking restaurants and bars in the future.

"It's a trend of the '80s. It's going to be a fact of the '90s," he added.

Chaffey students performed several modern jazz numbers including, "To Hollywood," a showcase of dance reminiscent of old Hollywood productions.

Another number involved having the Chaffey students work in pairs, each performing different steps but slowly mimicking each other until all the steps were in unison.

Fulton said the number reflected one attitude in society that people need to be more alike.

The older students then helped the younger ones with certain steps.

"This is a real growing experience for them. It gives them the incentive to go on with their dancing," Miller said.

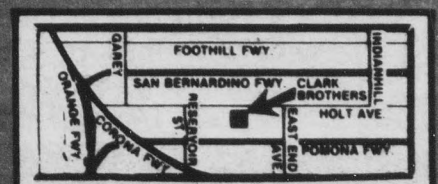

PHOTO TIPS

By Holt Confer
Copley News Service

Pick a subject — any subject — and there's a good chance one or more of the hundreds of stock photo houses scattered around the country will be able to supply pictures of it. Just in case the terms stock photography or stock photo house are foreign to your vocabulary, let me give you some definitions.

Stock photography refers to a collection of pictures on file. The pictures may be outtakes from an assignment or they may have been self-assigned. But in any event, these images already have been made and are available for immediate use, usually for an established fee.

A stock photo house is where these images are gathered, cataloged and rented to users.

Believe me when I tell you stock photography is big business. Almost every type of publication uses stock photos at some time or other. Why? Well, there are several reasons.

First of all, a deadline is approaching and there is no time to send someone on assignment to get the needed picture.

Second, there's the expense factor. It's costly to send a photographer anywhere. Day rates (what the photographer charges) can run anywhere from $600 to $3,000 — a factor that seems to be controlled by a combination of the photographer's location and his reputation. On top of that, travel expenses can add from 50 percent to 100 percent to the day rate charge.

So it's easy to see why when time and/or money are a consideration, editors and art directors often call stock photo houses to see if there is something already on file that will work in their layout.

What do stock photos sell for? While they usually are less expensive than assignment work, the price can vary from $150 to $4,000. The controlling factors are usage and circulation. Practically all stock photos are "rented" on a one-time-use basis. If the customer decides to use the picture in a brochure and in an audiovisual production, that's two uses and the invoice is adjusted accordingly.

Additionally, a stock photo rented to a publication with a circulation of 18 million will carry a higher fee than a photo used by a publication read by only 500,000 people. Then, too, a photo to be used in an advertisement will carry a higher rental fee than a photo used editorially.

Most stock photo houses agree to split the rental fee with the photographer on a 50-50 basis. There is sort of an unofficial rule of thumb that once established with a stock photo house, the photographer should make approximately $1 for every shot on file. This, of course is an average figure — some photos might not sell at all during a year, while others might sell several times. But on an overall basis, the $1 figure seems to hold out pretty well.

Let's back up for just a moment and take a look at that "once established" phrase. Even though stock photo houses constantly are looking to expand the number of photographers they represent, they still are very particular and highly critical of the pictures they receive.

Next week, I expect to review some of the things to remember when shooting for stock, but for now, just remember the stock photo house doesn't want the images you're going to throw away. If the images don't look right to you, they won't look right to the photo researcher who looks at your submissions. That photo researcher looks at thousands of transparencies every day and you better believe he knows the good ones from the bad ones.

One point to consider is the type of stock photo house you're working with. For example, many of the things I shoot are related to agriculture or natural sciences, and those are handled by the Grant Heifman File in Lititz, Pa., a stock photo house specializing in those subjects. However, I shoot a lot of things that don't fall into the agriculture/natural science area, so I also use Uniphoto in Washington, D.C. — more of a general subject stock house — for the subjects outside ag/science. And since most stock houses don't care to clutter their files with an unlimited number of similar shots, I've begun to look at another stock house or two to handle even more overflow.

One photographer I read about recently has made stock sales a major factor in his business by (1) shooting heavily when he has a salable subject and (2) distributing the results of that shoot to nearly 20 different stock houses. If the stock houses are separated geographically, chances are they all will have different customers, so the chance of a client getting the same shot from two different stock houses really is rather remote.

Computer entrepreneur tells women to visualize success

A former school teacher who now owns a successful computer school says the power of visualization makes the difference between success and stagnation.

Gail Marie Horton of Upland, owner of California Computer Schools Inc., took time from her seven-day-a-week schedule to offer suggestions to the Claremont American Association of University Women Networking Group. The group provides women an opportunity to exchange professional information.

She told the group that "if you believe — it will happen. If you think you can — you can." But, she added, it takes a great deal more than belief. It takes education, dedication and a positive attitude.

Several years ago, Horton decided she needed a change of careers. She'd been a fourth-grade teacher, a resources specialist and finally a coordinator of state and federal programs for a local school district.

She decided to use these skills differently. After investigating and finding a lack of teaching information for people who wanted to learn more about computer use, Horton decided she'd write a curriculum in everyday language to teach people how to use the equipment.

But first, Horton said, she realized that it was important to learn all about starting a business.

She has learned the lessons well and is now successful in a male-dominated technical field.

"One year before opening the schools, I began to educate myself," Horton said. "I sought out everyone who could teach me anything."

She recommends setting goals like a grocery list and focusing on it.

"Goals won't happen unless they are determined and worked toward," she added.

Horton recommends assigning learning tasks and then completing them.

"Learn one new thing that you don't know each month. In addition, read a book every month. If you did these two things, your income eventually would go up — it really does

She told the women: "To get a better job, don't wait. Make yourself better for another job."

Horton said attitudes are powerful. "If you are not happy, fake it. The mind believes what you tell it," she added.

Horton said it's sometimes necessary to change friends and companions if these people are not understanding and supportive.

"Eighty percent of the people don't want to hear your problems and 20 percent of the people are glad you have them — you are their competition," she noted.

According to Horton, a person's physical health has a great deal to do with personal success and women often don't exercise or practice other good health habits.

"If you die, it wrecks your whole career," she said, grinning.

STAMPS

By Lea Blauvelt
Copley News Service

The U.S. Postal Service's fourth Love stamp was issued April 17 in Hollywood in a 22-cent denomination.

In the past 11 years, three other love stamps have been issued — an 8-cent Jan. 1, 1973, and 20-cent stamps Feb. 1, 1982, and Jan. 31, 1984. It has been suggested that hereafter, Love stamps will be annuals.

Love stamp No. 1 featured Robert Indiana's controversial pop art design, a red, emerald and violet-blue "Love," but the stamp saw wide usage on special sentiment messages and valentines that year. Today, the public accepts abstract and contemporary art more readily. Indiana's "Love" design has since appeared on greeting cards, calendars, posters and even in sculpture.

The 1973 Love stamp was a less controversial tribute. It was a flowery one. The word "LOVE" was spelled out in spring flowers, painted by Mary Faulconer. It served for that year and was reprinted for use until the 1984 one came out. The 1984 issue was designed by Bradbury Thompson and repeated the word "LOVE" five times with all letters in black except the "V," which was replaced by a heart that was printed in red, orange, green-blue and violet in descending order.

The new Love stamp will be quite different. It looks like the work of a child, but really is taken from a silk-screen poster by Sister Mary Corita of the Immaculate Heart College in Los Angeles and, like Indiana's painting, was done in the 1960s. The artist since has left her order in the Catholic Church and is a painter in Boston known as Corita Kent.

The word "LOVE" in quick brush strokes angling slightly upward appears at the bottom of the vertically oriented stamp, with six more angled brush strokes above, in shades of yellow, orange, red, green, blue and purple. Below "LOVE," "USA" in red and "22" in green appear in similar brush work.

For first-day cancellations, collectors buying stamps at local post offices and affixing to addressed envelopes should send them to: Customer-Affixed Envelopes, Love Stamp, Postmaster, Hollywood, Calif. 90028-9991. No remittance is required.

If collectors want the USPS to affix the stamps, send 22 cents in check form for each stamp required and send to the address above with two changes: Delete "Customer-Affixed Envelopes" and change the final four numbers in the zip code to "9992." All orders should be postmarked by May 17.

HERE AND THERE — We've had to give so much coverage to U.S. issues recently, it may seem that no other nations are issuing stamps. No way! Briefly, a few of the postal administrations heard from:

The United Nations issued four stamps March 15 to commemorate "United Nations University — Research, Training, Knowledge." The multicolor stamps were in denominations of 50 cents, 50 and 80 centimes and 8.50 schillings, for use at the U.N. headquarters in New York, offices in Geneva and in Vienna, respectively. The four designs, by Hinedi Geluda of Brazil and Moshe Pereg of Israel, contrasted the work of the educated vs. the uneducated, or skilled vs. unskilled.

Recent releases from Ethiopia were a set of four (Dec. 7, 1984)

Bridal Bouquets

SPECIAL TOUCHES

After your wedding and engagement rings, the most important piece of jewelry you'll probably want to consider for your wedding day is a necklace.

The neckline of your gown will determine what necklace to wear. Unless you are choosing a gown to complement a special necklace, such as an heirloom or wedding gift from the bridegroom, you'll want to pick a suitable necklace style to complement your gown. A high-necked gown with much lace, for example, calls for a long and simple necklace or maybe none at all.

Necklaces come in fairly standard types, although designs vary widely. A COLLAR is the shortest style, made of multiple strands that fit closely around your neck. A CHOKER is usually a single strand, falling to your collarbone.

Medium lengths include the PRINCESS style, usually 18 inches long — slightly lower than a choker. MATINEE length is longer, ending just above cleavage. OPERA length goes to below the breastbone, and a ROPE is anything longer (although it can be doubled for a shorter effect).

Additional choices exist in pearls or beads. A UNIFORM necklace is one in which all beads are the same size; GRADUATED means that beads get progressively larger as they approach the center.

For that special touch in your wedding, contact your bridal experts at DEBORAH'S.

featuring that country's traditional sports on stamps of 5, 25 and 50 cents and 1 birr and picturing gugs (a game of skilled horsemanship), tigil (a form of wrestling), genna (a form of cricket) and gebeta (a board game), respectively.

Four stamps spotlighting birds of Ethiopia (Jan. 4) pictured Harwood's Francolin (Francolinus harwoodi — a partridge), Rouget's Rail (Rallus rougetti), The Little Bee-eater (Merops pusillus) and the Red-Headed Weaver (Malimbus rubriceps) on values of 5, 15, 80 and 85 cents. The first two are found only in that country.

And four animals found in Ethiopia were depicted on four stamps (Feb. 4). On stamps of 20, 25 and 40 cents and 1 birr were shown the hippopotamus, the giraffe gazelle (or gerenuk), Kirk's dik-dik and Salt's dik-dik, respectively.

Singapore displayed four of its bridges, an important and integral part of that republic's extensive communication network, on four stamps (March 15). They were Coleman Bridge, Cavenagh Bridge, Elgin Bridge and Benjamin Sheares Bridge on stamps of 10, 35 and 75 cents and $1, respectively.

Kenya kicked off its 1985 stamp program by issuing (Jan. 31) four stamps and a souvenir sheet promoting the conserving of energy. On stamps of 70 cents, 2, 3.5 and 10 schillings were shown fuel wood and charcoal cooking, a method of transforming cow manure into biogas, solar energy and animal power — oxen pulling a plow, respectively. All four were incorporated — without denominations showing — on the souvenir sheet, which sold for 20 schillings.

FOR THE NOVICE — What is the "One Penny Red"? Shortly after Britain issued its first stamp, the "One Penny Black" in 1840, those handling the mail complained that cancellations on the stamp were hard to see. So the Post Office reissued the stamp in a reddish-brown color in 1841 and it was used until 1880. Repeated printings caused many varieties in color tints, watermarks, papers and perforations, causing a field for exciting study by the collector who likes a challenge.

This is urban sprawl

The latest estimates put the amount of urban and suburban land in the United States at more than 94 million acres, or four times the land area of Indiana.

Two million to 3 million acres of urban and suburban land are being added yearly. Three million acres are equivalent to a 2-mile-wide corridor running from Los Angeles to New York.

Rodi sees plenty of action for UNA, but not at one position

Pete Rodi isn't considered a specialist by the University of North Alabama baseball coaches.

Instead, he's one of those rare players who can come in at almost any position and get the job done.

This season the Upland senior has come in numerous times to fill gaps at third base, second base and first base for the Lions and has been one of the reasons the UNA squad has rolled to its best record ever at the 40-5-1 and a No. 2 national ranking.

"You have to have players like Pete to be successful," said Mike Lane, who coached Rodi at Cochise Community College in Arizona before coming to the UNA campus in Florence. "He can do so many things and help a team so many different ways.

"He's a steady player and he's a senior who doesn't let a lot of things bother him. He handles everything very well."

Rodi has started several games at first base for UNA this season, as well as hitting as the designated hitter and playing second and third bases.

His timely hitting has sparked several UNA rallies as he has drove in 15 runs and slapped four home runs.

Last season Rodi hit six home runs and had 43 RBI as UNA won its first Gulf South Conference championship and reached the finals of the NCAA Central Region.

Rodi played all infield positions in the Lions' 1984 campaign and was the back-up catcher. The UNA coaches even experimented with him as pitcher this season.

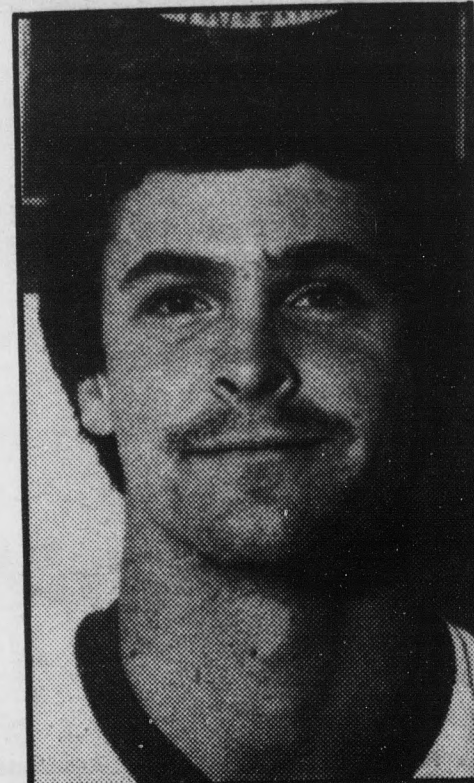

"It really hasn't been anything new," said Rodi. "I've always played every position. There are some adjustments you have to make going from first to third or somewhere else but I'm used to it."

A streak hitter, Rodi delivered two homeruns in a sweep over Bethel College and has steadily upped his batting average to .278.

Perhaps his most impressive statistic is his .963 fielding percentage with only four errors in 108 plays at three different positions.

"I missed some games with an injury at the start of the year but I've worked hard to come back and I've regained my confidence," said Rodi, who played at Upland High School with UNA teammate Mike Sheridan. "I've just tried to do the best I can when I get a chance, whether I'm starting or pinch-hitting."

That attitude and Rodi's strong arm have made him a key player in UNA's drive for a second GSC crown and a berth in the NCAA playoffs.

Panther men expected to retain IVC swimming title

One streak will end but another will continue at the Inland Valley Conference swim finals starting today at East Los Angeles College.

Chaffey College's two-year domination of women's swimming is expected to end as Palomar College is favored to displace the Panthers atop the IVC standings. However, the Panther men are solid favorites to extend its championship reign another year.

"We have it doped out, on entered times, to beat San Diego Mesa by 80 points for the men's title," said veteran Chaffey coach Mike Dickson. "But Mesa's shaving down for the meet, hoping to qualify for the state meet, so every race will be important to us."

The Panthers are set for the state meet, with the exception of Allen Godsey. Six of Dickson's males have bettered qualifying times for the state meet, as has Anne Fitzpatrick on the women's side.

Dickson expects Godsey, one of two returning All-Americans for Chaffey, to qualify during the course of the four-day meet.

Chaffey's men's team completed its second straight undefeated dual meet season, compiling seven points in the process. There's an outside chance Mesa can steal the IVC crown if it can take the eight points going to the meet victor and couple it with the six points going to the runnerup.

The Panther women finished third in dual meet competition, but have an excellent shot at taking second overall, according to Dickson. Mesa was the undefeated dual meet winner, but Palomar is expected to sweep honors in the finals.

In addition to team titles, four Panthers are in the running for a pair of individual titles. The male swimmer of the year, based on points earned during the season, will be decided among three Chaffey entries — Jeff Miller, Daniel Budiman and Nustamsikin. Fitzpatrick is among three females in contention for the honor.

Miller, nationally in the top 12 in six events a year ago, has already qualified for the state meet in two events and could add the 200 freestyle with strong effort in the IVC finals.

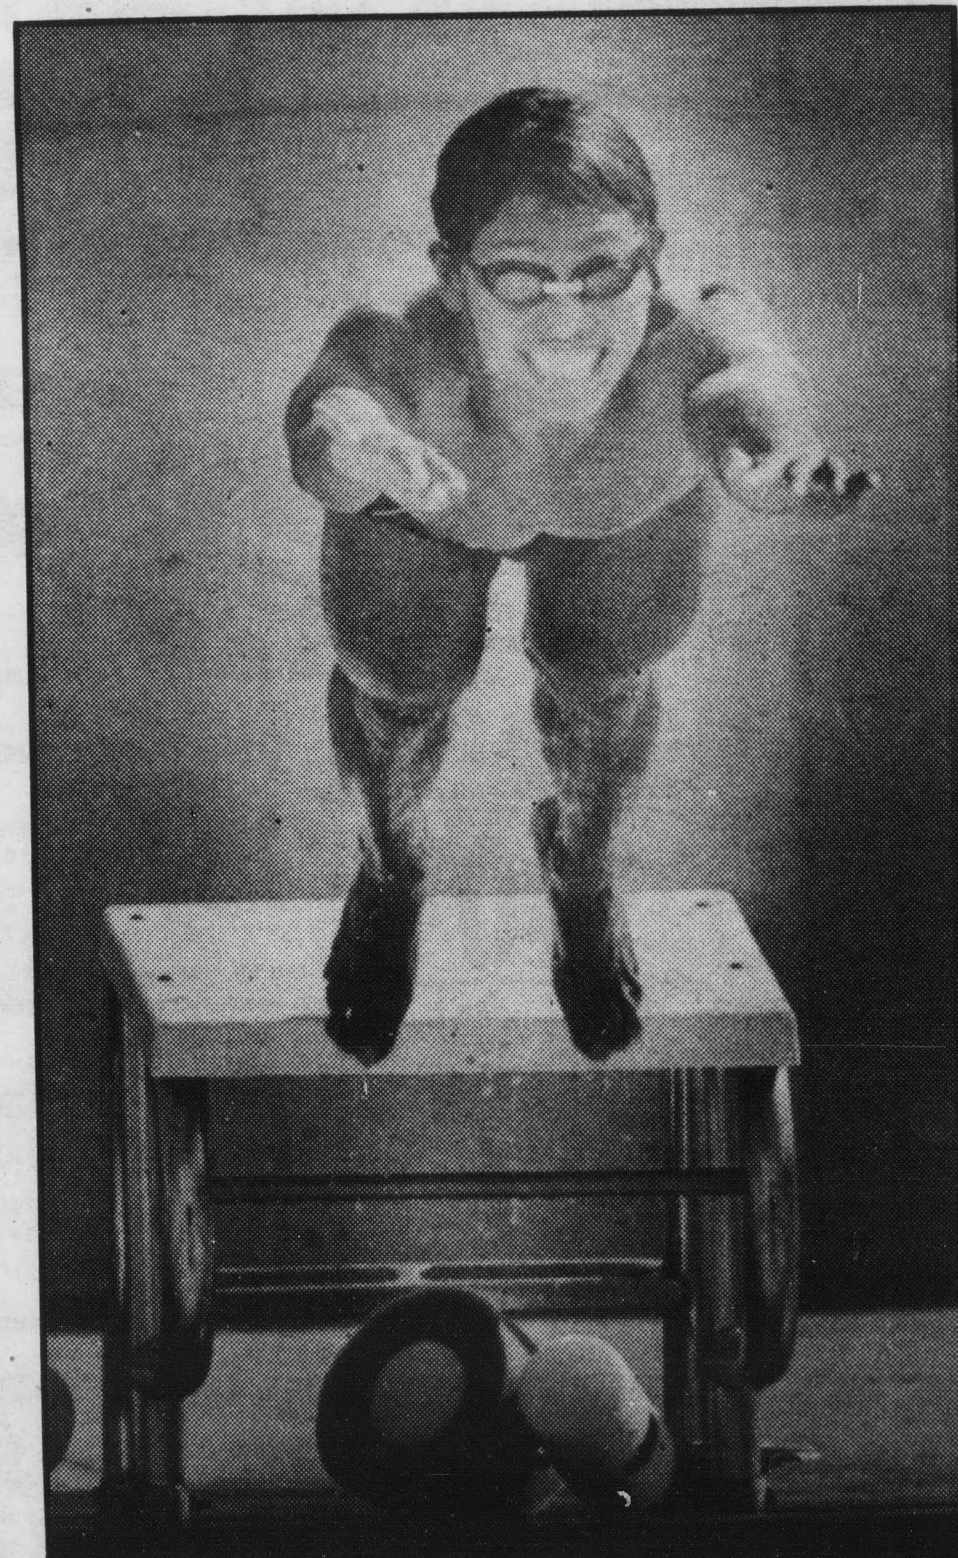

Budiman and Nustamsikin are among a quartet of Indonesian swimmers from Chaffey that will advance after the IVC meet. Fellow countrymen Tjatur Sugiarto and Saleni Sudiono have also posted qualifying times to enter the state meet.

Chris Magee and the Panther 400 medley relay squad will also compete in the state meet.

Dickson's hopeful Godsey will have among the top 16 community college times in the state after the IVC meet to qualify. "He's shaving down, it's a sure sign that he's going after the marks."

Other Panther entries in the meet for the men's team include George Ragsdale, Felix Rivera, Edwin Miller, Jim Rice, Lou Dudash and Mark Barron.

For the women, Fitzpatrick will be joined by Beth Basenberg, Wendy and Linda DeWater and Stacy Nicholson.

SECTION 8: The first paragraph of Section 8106.010 of the Upland Municipal Code is hereby amended by substituting the year 1982 in place of the year 1979, wherever the same appears in said paragraph.

SECTION 9: The first paragraph of Chapter 8107 of the Upland Municipal Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

CHAPTER 8107. NATIONAL ELECTRICAL CODE; FILING AND ADOPTION

That certain code designated as the "National Electrical Code 1984 Edition" including the Uniform Administrative Code and the supplements thereto, three (3) copies of which are on file in the office of the City Clerk, is hereby adopted by reference and shall henceforth be referred to as the electrical code for the City of Upland, subject to all amendments, additions, and deletions as set forth in this chapter.

SECTION 10: Sections 8107.010, 8107.011, 8107.012, 8107.020, 8107.021, 8107.026, 8107.027, 8107.028, 8107.040, 8107.041, 8107.045 and 8107.046 of the Upland Municipal Code are hereby jointly and severally deleted in their entirety.

SECTION 11: Section 8110.010 of the Upland Municipal Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 8110.010 Grading requirements and restriction; intent and purposes

The unregulated excavation, placing of embankment, and/or diverting of natural water courses in the course of physical development of land within the city may cause extensive damage to public and private property, may result in hazardous unstable conditions, and/or infringe on the rights of property owners by creating unnecessary unsightly conditions which did not previously exist adjacent to their property. It is therefore the intent and purpose of this chapter to avoid potentially damaging, hazardous, and unsightly conditions in the course of land development by requiring that certain excavations, embankments and changes in water courses shall conform to the provisions of Chapter 70, excavations and grading, of the "Uniform Building Code Appendix 1982 Edition", as published by the International Conference of Building Officials, and those special provisions as contained in this chapter.

SECTION 12: This ordinance shall be signed by the Mayor, attested by the City Clerk, and published in the Upland News in pursuance to the requirements of the California Government Code.

SECTION 13: If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance shall for any reason be invalid, such holding or holdings shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance. The City Council has declared that it would have passed this ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, be declared invalid.

The City Council of the City of Upland does hereby ordain as follows:

SECTION 2: Therefore, Section 6520.13 of the Upland Municipal Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 6520.13 - Same - Presence of Police Officer or Other Security Required.

It shall be the duty of every person commercially operating a floor, hall or room for dance purposes to maintain at his own expense at every dance attended by more than twenty-five (25) persons within a sustained period of one-half (1/2) hour at least one State of California licensed security officer who shall be unarmed, and such additional State of California licensed security officers as may be reasonably determined by the operator to be necessary to adequately monitor and control the persons at said dance. At every dance attended by one hundred twenty-five (125) or more patrons, a City of Upland duly-deputed police officer shall be employed in addition to the State of California licensed security officers required to be controlling the dance.

Any person proposing a commercially operated dance as a special event and on a non-recurring basis shall make a request in writing to the Police Chief setting forth the expected number of persons attending the dance and the location of the dance. The Police Chief shall thereupon consider the location of the proposed dance, its proximity to adjacent residential and/or commercial neighborhoods, the proposed clientele of the dance and any violations of law which have taken place on the premises at any previous dances operated under the auspices of the applicant, and based upon these considerations make a determination of the number and type of security personnel required to be present at said dance.

ORDINANCE NO. 1351

ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF UPLAND AMENDING THE UPLAND MUNICIPAL CODE RELATING TO THE MUNICIPAL WATER SYSTEM

The City Council of the City of Upland does hereby ordain as follows:

SECTION 1: Sections 7710.1 through 7712.1 of the Upland Municipal Code are hereby amended by substituting the words "utility director" wherever the word "superintendent" appears, and substituting the words "finance director" wherever the words "city treasurer" appear.

SECTION 2: Subsection (6) of Section 7712.0 is hereby amended to read as follows:

(6) For each building in a manufacturing or commercial zone, the fee shall be at the rate of six hundred dollars ($600.00) for each building having a ground floor area of not more than three thousand (3,000) square feet; and an additional three hundred dollars ($300.00) for each three thousand (3,000) square feet or prorated fraction thereof of ground floor area.

Any person, firm or corporation paying the fee herein imposed shall not be required to pay an additional fee for any subsequent alteration, repair or remodeling.

SECTION 3: Subsection (6b) of Section 7712.0 is hereby amended to read as follows:

(6b) For each nonresidential building excepting aircraft protico, the fee shall be six hundred dollars ($600.00) for each building having a floor area of not more than three thousand (3,000) square feet and an additional three hundred dollars ($300.00) for each three thousand (3,000) square feet or prorated fraction thereof of floor area.

SECTION 4: Sections 7720.0 through 7720.4 of the Upland Municipal Code are hereby amended by substituting the words "utility director" wherever the word "superintendent" appears; and subparagraph (d) of Section 7720.4 is amended by substituting the words "finance department" for the words "water division".

SECTION 5: Subsection (f) of Section 7720.4 of the Upland Municipal Code is hereby added to read as follows:

(f) Outside City Limits: For water furnished to any consumer outside the City limits, the rates shall be double the rates charged inside the City, as set by resolution of the City Council from time to time. The Council may, however, provide otherwise by written agreement with any city, county, or other governmental agency. Consumers outside the City limits receiving City water are subject to all rules and regulations as set by this department to obtain water service.

SECTION 6: Section 7720.5 of the Upland Municipal Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 7720.5 Application for Service.

Before water shall be supplied to any premises and the water is turned on by the City for any purpose, the consumer must sign an Application for Service form. This consumer may be the owner, tenant, or agent of the property and said consumer signing the Application for Service form shall be held liable for water used and for other such utility services as are billed on the billing for such utilities supplied by the City until notified to discontinue service. A separate application is required for each service address served by a separate metering device and such necessary information as is required to establish the credit of the applicant must be furnished to the finance department of the City; thereupon, service connection shall be made at the nearest distribution main by the division after all charges herein provided for have been paid.

SECTION 7: Subsection (a) of Section 7720.6 of the Upland Municipal Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

(a) The advance payment. The finance department shall require an applicant for water and other utility services to make an advance payment equal to the estimated bimonthly bill for water, refuse collection and sewer service; provided, that no such advance payment shall be less than thirty dollars ($30.00); provided further, that the department shall take action for collection of water service charges against only the applicant making such advance payment.

SECTION 8: Subsection (d) of Section 7720.6 of the Upland Municipal Code is hereby added to read as follows:

(d) Services and advance payment are not transferable. No water, other utility service or advance payment shall be transferred from one party to another. It shall be the responsibility of the water user to notify the City of the time discontinuance of service is desired and failure to do so shall render said user liable for water and other utility charges until such notice is received. This shall not be construed as relieving the new consumer or occupant of a residence or other place of water and utility service of the responsibility for applying for service. If at any time it comes to the attention of the City that a consumer has been receiving services without proper application for same, such services shall be immediately discontinued until the consumer completes the required Application for Service form as provided by the Code. Such consumer shall be liable and charged for any services received from the date of commencement of said use if it is possible to ascertain such date. If said date cannot be ascertained, charges for water and other utility services shall be made from the date of the last regular meter reading.

SECTION 9: Section 7720.7 of the Upland Municipal Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 7720.7 Billing.

(a) When issued: Regular billing for water and other utility services may be issued bimonthly or monthly, as may be deemed appropriate by the city manager and finance director of the City. In no case, however, should a consumer be billed for less than a one-month period or more than a two-month period except in the case of discontinuance of service.

(b) When due: All charges for water and other utility services shall be due and payable upon presentation. If payment is not received in City Hall prior to 5:00 P.M. on the fifteenth day after presentation, the charges are delinquent and subject to additional charges and penalties as scheduled by separate resolution. Failure to receive bill does not relieve consumer of liability.

(c) Owner of property liable for payment: The owners of any property upon which city water is used, shall be liable for the payment of rates for such water; all rules and regulations provided for the government of the water service shall apply to the owner of the premises as well as to the water user, and in case of default in payment of water rates, all arrearages, fines and penalties shall be attached to the premises and the particular connection from which the water was used without payment.

(d) Finance director and/or the water utility director may, in their discretion, adjust bills for the purpose of reflecting their reasonable opinion of actual water usage and/or other charges and all persons affected shall have the right to appeal any such determination to the City Council and a decision with respect thereto shall be final and conclusive as to all parties.

SECTION 10: Subsection (a) of Section 7720.8 of the Upland Municipal Code is hereby amended to substitute the words "water division and/or finance department" in place of the word "division", as set forth in said subsection.

SECTION 11: Subsection (b) of Section 7720.8 is hereby amended to read as follows:

(b) Department's right to discontinue service:

(1) For failure to comply with regulations: If a consumer or owner fails to comply with the provisions of this chapter or the regulations of the division after five (5) days notice thereof, the division may forthwith discontinue water service to such consumer or owner until full and complete compliance is obtained.

(2) For improper disposal of water: Any person who, as owner or tenant of any premises, fails, refuse, or neglects to equip and maintain such premises with plumbing of such character, quality, and design as to assure that water will be disposed of into a disposal system acceptable to the city, shall five (5) days after being served by written notice of such intent, have all water service discontinued pending such improvements.

(3) For wastage of water: Any person who wastes, causes, permits or allows to be wasted any water in any cooling system, ornamental fountain or other device of any kind whatsoever, may after service of five (5) days notice of intention have all water service discontinued.

(4) For refusal to admit employee to inspect: Any person who as owner or occupant of any premises, refuses admittance to, or hinders or prevents inspection by an authorized employee of the division may, after service of twenty-four (24) hour notice of intention, have all water cutoff.

(5) For non-payment of bill: If water and other utility charges are not paid as previously set forth and after serving a twenty-four (24) hour notice of intention to discontinue the water service if the charges are not paid, the City shall have the right to discontinue the water service. A charge for providing this notification may be set by separate resolution of the City Council. When after said notice, delinquent payment has still not been received by the finance department of the City, water service will be discontinued and subject to an additional turn-off charge as set by separate schedule and resolution of the City Council.

(6) Turn-off or turn-on of service when requested by the consumer for the closing of an old account or the beginning of a new one will be supplied at no charge to the consumer. However, said requests must be placed with the appropriate department at least twenty-four (24) hours prior thereto in order to effect discontinuance or restoration of water service. Requests for service connections after normal working hours and/or on weekends will be subject to fees equal to actual costs incurred for such special service. Exceptions may be made by the water utility director in his discretion where he finds that discontinuance of service would jeopardize the health, safety and welfare of the water consumer.

(c) Only water utility director may turn water on: No person shall tap, open or connect to, or cause, permit or allow to be turned on, in any way, any water after the same has been turned off by the water utility director.

(d) Restoration of service: Upon failure to comply with regulations of the department, to pay charges, or to comply with any charge or penalty imposed for failure as herein provided, water services may be turned off until the regulations are complied with and/or penalty payments are made in the amount due. To restore service an amount as set by separate schedule and resolution enacted by the City Council will be collected to defray the cost of turning water service back on. In the event the consumer turns on the water service or suffers or causes it to be turned on after it has been turned off for any of the above reasons, the department may again turn off the water service and remove the meter. The costs incurred for this additional expense shall be commensurate with the cost of this service and shall be determined and charged by the water utility director. In any case, if the meter is removed for cause, additional charges as set by separate resolution may be incurred by the consumer. The consumer's account may then be closed by the finance department and any advance payments applied against this closing bill. In case the consumer's service is discontinued for nonpayment of bill for service, or where notice of discontinuance for nonpayment of bill has been given, the finance department shall require a new advance payment equal to the amount of the bimonthly bill, plus all other amounts due prior to restoration of water service.

(e) Returned checks: Any account for which payment is made by check and for which check is returned by the bank on which it was drawn shall be considered as unpaid and subject to charges for handling as set by separate schedule.

SECTION 12: Subsections (a), (e) and (g) of Section 7720.9 of the Upland Municipal Code are hereby amended to read as follows:

(a) Consumer dissatisfaction with meter: meter testing: In case of dissatisfaction with the registration of any meter, the consumer shall make a written complaint to the water division, and pay a deposit in an amount as set by separate resolution of the City Council enacted from time to time, which deposit will be returned and the water bill adjusted in an equitable manner in case the meter shall be found to register over three percent (3%) more than actually passes through it. If the meter is found to be accurate within three percent (3%), the deposit shall be forfeited to the city and the water bill paid as rendered.

(e) Unlawful to tamper with meter or break seals: No person shall tamper with, remove, cause, permit, or allow to be tampered with or removed, any meter where the same has been attached to any service, or break, cause, permit, or allow to be broken any meter seal. If such tampering or breaking occurs, the division shall impose a penalty of Three Hundred Dollars ($300.00) and may remove the meter.

(g) Unlawful to cover meter box: It shall be unlawful at any time to cover meter boxes with trash, rubbish, dirt or other foreign matter, to permit ivy or other shrubbery to grow over meter boxes, or to park automobiles or other vehicles over meter boxes. If the City's water meter reader is unable to read the meter in the normal course of his or her work because of any of the above, an estimated reading for a comparable period will be estimated and billed to the consumer. Additionally, if the consumer permits a dog or other animal to prohibit the meter reader from reading the meter of said consumer, then the consumer's meter may be billed on an estimated basis for a comparable period of time in which the meter reader is effectively prevented from reading the meter.

SECTION 13: Section 7720.10 of the Upland Municipal Code is hereby amended by adding thereto a new paragraph to read as follows:

The City shall not accept any responsibility for the maintenance of pressure and reserves the right to discontinue service while making emergency repairs. Consumers depending upon a continuous supply should provide emergency service.

SECTION 14: Sections 7720.11 through 7720.16 of the Upland Municipal Code are hereby amended by substituting the words "utility director" for the word "superintendent" wherever said word appears in said said sections; and substituting the words "finance director" for the words "city treasurer" wherever those words appear in said sections.

SECTION 15: Subsection (b) of Section 7720.14 of the Upland Municipal Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

(b) Free access to private premises: Upon presentation of official identification, any authorized employee of the division, on official business, shall have the right of entry during usual business hours to inspect any and all buildings and premises in the performance of his duty. This right of entry shall be a condition of water service in order to provide assurance that the continuation of service to the premises will not constitute a menace to health, safety and welfare to the people throughout the city water system.

SECTION 16: A new Section 7720.15 is hereby added to the Upland Municipal Code to read as follows:

Sec. 7720.15 Emergency Water Regulations.

(a) The City Manager authorized to declare water shortage emergency: The City Manager is hereby authorized to determine and declare that a water shortage emergency exists in any or all parts of the City of Upland and upon such determination, to promulgate such regulations, rules and conditions relative to the time of using water, the purpose and purposes for which it may be used, and such other necessary limitation as will, in his opinion, relieve the water shortage in any such section or sections of the city.

(b) City Manager's duty to cause public notice to be published: Upon such emergency declaration by the City Manager, it shall be his duty to have public notice given by publishing a notice giving the extent, terms and conditions respecting the use and consumption of water, at least once in a newspaper of general circulation in the city. Upon such declaration and publication of such notice, due and proper notice shall be deemed to have been given each and every consumer supplied with water by the City of Upland.

SECTION 17: Existing Section 7720.15 of the Upland Municipal Code is hereby renumbered to Section 7720.16.

SECTION 18: This ordinance shall be signed by the Mayor, attested by the City Clerk, and published in the Upland News in pursuance to the requirements of the California Government Code.

SECTION 19: If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance shall for any reason be invalid, such holding or holdings shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance. The City Council has declared that it would have passed this ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, be declared invalid.
